River Recovery Matai

Product Code: NT.RR.01

An iconic New Zealand timber, particularly hard wearing tight grained salvaged Matai makes excellent hardwood flooring

Technical Specifications

New Zealand River Matai

The New Zealand Natural Timber Co. offers a special cut of log grade for river recovery Matai. This maximises the best utilisation of the log, ensuring minimal waste. Our river salvaged Matai has an unmatched and distinctively wild appearance due to the extreme nature of the tree's life on the rugged West Coast of the South Island.

These logs are supplied from select river beds across the west coast of NZ where the changing path of the water flow has naturally felled and covered the trees. Preserved under layers of schist, mud and debris, some of these logs have been carbon dated to over 1500 years.

Depending on the time spent under the river bed the timber changes colour adding unique colour to the timber that tells its own story.
