River Rimu

River Recovery Rimu

Product Code: NT.RR.01

The New Zealand Natural Timber Co. offers a special cut of log grade for river recovery Rimu. This maximises the best utilisation of the log, ensuring minimal waste. Our river salvaged Rimu has an unmatched and distinctively wild appearance due to the extreme nature of the tree's life on the rugged West Coast of the South Island.

River recovery Rimu floors provide a unique aesthetic, coupled with our range of natural timber care oils and a variety of surface finishing techniques, to create a stunning, individual flooring solution.

Technical Specifications

New Zealand River Rimu

The New Zealand Natural Timber Co. offers a special cut of log grade for river recovery Rimu. This maximises the best utilisation of the log, ensuring minimal waste. Our river salvaged Rimu has an unmatched and distinctively wild appearance due to the extreme nature of the tree's life on the rugged West Coast of the South Island.

These logs are supplied from select river beds across the west coast of NZ where the changing path of the water flow has naturally felled and covered the trees. Preserved under layers of schist, mud and debris, some of these logs have been carbon dated to over 1500 years.

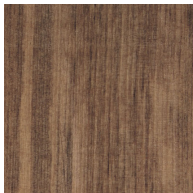

Depending on the time spent under the river bed the timber changes colour adding unique colour to the timber that tells its own story.
